CLAIMS

1. A magnetic list, comprising:

(a) a^s planar base; and

(b) a plurality of individual items, each of said individual items being magnetic and adapted to adhere proximate said planar base.

2. The magnetic list of claim 1 wherein said planar base is formed of a flexible material.

3. The magnetic list of claim 2 wherein said flexible material is magnetic.

4. The magnetic list of claim 3 wherein said flexible material includes a ferrous substance.

5. The magnetic list of claim 1 wherein said planar base includes an ornamental shape.

15. The magnetic list of claim 1 wherein each of said plurality of individual items includes a magnetic segment that is detachable with respect to said planar base.

16. A magnetic list, comprising:

(a) an ornamental planar base that includes means for detachably-attaching said planar base to a surface that is disposed under said planar base; and

(b) a plurality of individual items, each of said plurality of individual items being disposed on a magnetic segment that is detachable with respect to said planar base and wherein each segment is adapted to adhere proximate said planar base and wherein each of said segments includes means adapted to identify an item and wherein said means adapted to identify includes a raised or a recessed representation of said item.

17. The magnetic list of claim 16 wherein said plurality of individual items include foodstuffs that appertain generally to a particular ethnicity.

~~18. The magnetic list of claim 16 wherein said means for detachably-attaching includes a flexible magnetic material.~~

19. A method for forming a list, which comprises the steps of:

(a) providing a flexible magnetic planar base that is adapted for attachment to a ferric material;

(b) providing a plurality of individual items, each of said individual items including means for identifying a particular type of product that is either raised or recessed, any of said plurality of individual items being adapted for placement proximate said base;

(c) placing a piece of paper over said individual items proximate said base; and

(d) applying a force over said piece of paper sufficient to copy an image of said any of said plurality of individual items to said piece of paper.

20. The method for forming a list of claim 19 wherein said force is applied over only a portion of said individual items sufficient to produce an abbreviated list thereof.
